Examiner would like to point out that applicant has provided the wrong serial number for this application in previous office actions.

Correction is requested.

Claims 21-29 are allowed.

Claim 3 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 1, 2, and 12-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Beckett in view of Minifie for reasons of record.

Applicant argues the references do not disclose the specific elongational flow that is set forth in the claims. This has been considered but is not persuasive. The flow constrictions in Beckett occur as a result of the heavy roller pressure within the conch as it is acting on the chocolate. Beckett also shows flow restrictions in a different type of conche at figure 9.2. Applicant refers to claim 16 but this claim has been withdrawn as being directed to a non-elected claim. Claim 29 has been allowed.

Applicant argues that the references do not treat powdery materials. Chocolate manufacture is generally known in the art to include a refining step, which reduces the particle size of the chocolate nib to a powdery state with a particle size of 50-60 microns for dark chocolate and less than 65 microns for milk chocolate (see Minifie at bottom half of page 107, flow diagram on page 113 and page 117, third paragraph). Although "powdery" is not the specific adjective describing the refined mixture, one of ordinary skill in the art would expect a product with the particle size mentioned in Minifie to be a powdery mass.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

This application contains claims 16-20 drawn to an invention nonelected in the reply filed on August 14, 2008. A complete reply to the final rejection must include cancellation of nonelected claims or other appropriate action (37 CFR 1.144) See MPEP § 821.01.
